McMahon Associates, Inc. Announces Major Promotions for Exton Office Leadership

Christopher J. Williams, P.E. has been promoted to Associate Regional Manager – Mid-Atlantic and Matthew M. Kozsuch, P.E. is the new General Manager of the Exton Office.

FORT WASHINGTON, PA, January 25, 2017 – McMahon Associates, Inc., a transportation engineering and planning firm, today announced two key promotions within the firm's Mid-Atlantic region. Christopher J. Williams, P.E. has been promoted from General Manager of the Exton office to the role of Associate Regional Manager, largely responsible for growth and oversight of Mid-Atlantic Services. Matthew M. Kozsuch, P.E. was elevated to be the General Manager of the Exton office, in addition to continuing to serve as the Regional Service Leader for ITS in the region.

Christopher Williams, an Associate and Vice President of the firm, has been with McMahon Associates since 1995. In addition to leading the staff and growth of the Exton office since its opening in 2000, he has been involved in hundreds of comprehensive transportation engineering and planning projects, and is vital to our geographic success in Chester County and Delaware. He supports many developer clients and Pennsylvania municipalities providing traffic engineering services. Within the firm, Williams serves on McMahon's Executive Committee. He also served on the Board of Directors of the Transportation Management Association of Chester County (TMACC), as their Chairman from 2013 to 2016 and volunteers with several other professional and community organizations.

In his new role, Williams will be responsible for coordination of McMahon's service lines and working with the Regional Service Leaders across all offices in the Mid-Atlantic. This includes streamlining actions leading to new project pursuits, and guiding the expansion of existing and new services.

Matthew M. Kozsuch, P.E., an Associate of the firm, joined McMahon in 1994 and has led our ITS/Signals group as its Regional Service Leader. He has been responsible for managing engineering contracts for public agencies, local municipalities and private clientele. Kozsuch has managed the firm's multi-million dollar Traffic Signal and Safety Services contract with PennDOT District 6-0 since 2003 and has been instrumental in securing contracts with the PA

Turnpike Commission and the City of Philadelphia. Additionally, he earned this promotion having successfully led the Camp Hill office from 2013 to 2016. Kozsuch is an active volunteer in several professional societies, and is also a past president and past director of ITS Pennsylvania.

As General Manager of the Exton office, Kozsuch will be responsible for direction and daily oversight of office operations and administrative functions, monitoring projects and workload, and will act as the office liaison to McMahon's senior leadership.

"Elevating both Chris and Matt into these leadership roles and responsibilities within our region is a direct outcome of the success that each of them has helped McMahon achieve during their career," said Casey A. Moore, P.E., VP & Mid-Atlantic Regional Manager for McMahon Associates, Inc. "I am proud to call them partners in our business, and very pleased with the way they handle their business dealings with our clients, staff and peers in the industry with high integrity and consummate professionalism. In their new roles, we trust that each will continue to achieve success for McMahon and the goals we strive for in the future."
